HE DRINKS TOO MUCH.

John Schmidt Found an Habitual Drunkard and in Need of Guardian.

At the close of a hearing which lasted from 10 o'clock Thursday morning until suppertime of the same day, the jury in the probate court decided that John Schmidt was an habitual drunkard, and incapable of managing his own affairs.

Among the witnesses in the case were two physicians with widely diverging views. Dr. Scholle stated that he had doctored Schmidt on several occasions, and that he was under the influence of liquor each time. He attributed Schmidt's nervous condition to alcoholism. Dr. S. A. Johnson, Schmidt's regular physician, followed Dr. Scholle and testified that he had never seen John Schmidt drunk, and attributed his nervousness to another ailment, for which he had been taking treatment for several years. Two hotel keepers, Wood of the National and Hankla of the Elfr Avenue, had never seen Schmidt in a drunken condition.

The "piece de resistance" of the afternoon was the testimony of Schmidt himself. For many years he has been admitted by a circle of friends for his ability to throw and hog-tie the English language. His vocabulary contains many words of impromptu construction which defy repetition or reproduction in print. He desired to "get in right" with the jury, and to that end, disregarded the questions of attorneys, and told his story in his own words. He went back to the beginning, and told a story which visibly affected the jury and spectators. He detailed many fallings-out with his brother Al and Mrs. Al, and of the illness which had forced him to spend a lot of money in travel and medical treatment. He intimated that he had not spent all the money which was paid him by his brother, but had it in a "safe place" where he could get it when wanted without any interference from relatives or friends. He got tired of asking permission to draw his own money when he needed it, and by subterfuge, got it in small lumps and carried it out of Topeka. He admitted that he had invested $1,250 in an Arizona gold mine, and it is probable that this admission caused the jury to doubt his business ability.

He had nothing to show for his investment, and knew nothing about the mine or its location, but had absolute faith in the promoter who sold him the stock. He did not even have the shares of stock, but says they are in the possession of the promoter and perfectly safe. He had also left various sums of money with Kansas City friends, without taking any receipt. Such business methods did not seem to favorably impress the jury. John Schmidt always had a reputation among his friends for absolute honesty, but they do not approve of his theory that all persons are equally honest, and believe that he has been "trimmed" while under the influence of liquor.

It was made plain by Schmidt's testimony that he held his brother and sister-in-law responsible for many of his troubles. In his graphic way he told of his love affair with a young woman which had been broken up by the interference of Mrs. Al Schmidt by suggestions of scandal. Schmidt expressed surprise and sorrow over the fact that some of his friends had testified to having seen him under the influence of liquor, and vigorously denied the allegation that he was a drunkard.

AT HIS OLD HOME.

Anniversary of the Birth of Shakespeare Is Celebrated.

Stratford-on-Avon, April 23.—The 345th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare, was celebrated here today on an elaborate scale. The city was decorated and it was crowded with visitors.

One of the principal features of the ceremonies was the unfurling of 41 national flags, representing the countries which especially admire Shakespeare. Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador, unfurled the stars and stripes.

Tabriz telegraphed the situation there would be desperate if the negotiations following the representations of European powers which were made yesterday should fail. These representations touched the general situation in Persia. The results had not become publicly known. The consul felt that a massacre was imminent.

Inflammatory speeches against foreigners were made at the funeral of Baskerville yesterday, and foreigners were not permitted to leave the city. The missionaries are much alarmed and the minister says he is powerless to do anything.

Choice of State Regents Approved.

Washington, April 23.—The congress of the D. A. R. has approved the election of the various state regents. They include Mrs. George T. Guernsey of Kansas.

Rescued Only to Die.

Joplin, Mo., April 23.—Thomas Gibbs, the remaining miner of five who were entombed yesterday at the M. & B. mine, near Duenweg, was rescued this morning, but no sooner had he been brought to the surface than he died. Gibbs' wife and little daughter were at the shaft awaiting his rescue. Gibbs' death brings the total casualties to three.

Englishman—You—aw—live in California, I believe? American—Yes, sir; San Francisco is my home. Englishman—Quite so. Ah, I presume you frequently come in contact with my friends, the Courtneys, in Arizona—an adjoining state, I believe? Harper's Bazar.
